About the Workshop

This 6-hour presentation "cracks the code" on domestic and family violence perpetrator behaviour, presenting an evidence-informed understanding of their differences based on motive. This is ideal for judges, attorneys, advocates, perpetrator intervention professionals, child welfare case managers, therapists, and other professionals working with domestic violence concerns. Those with different motives display different behaviors and present different dangers to their victims and children. Through the use of videos and case examples, this information unlocks the mystery of domestic violence, and provides practical information that can improve safety planning with victims and children, and intervention efforts with persons using violence.
